2010 SLOT CAR CATALOG

From the President

Things are really shakin' here at Auto World Headquarters and I'm pleased to present our 2010 catalog!

We have lots of exciting new products in the works. We're thrilled to add NHRA® drag racing to our lineup of slot cars and track sets. Soon we'll be offering fantastic new items featuring some of the biggest names and sponsorships in the sport. Many slot car enthusiasts have been clamoring for a realistic drag strip setup and we're pleased to announce that we now offer a fantastic new electronic drag racing system to satisfy those NHRA fans.

In other unbelievable news, we are proud to announce the addition of another ground-breaking new license to our lineup - the 1966 Batmobile as seen on the classic TV show. This is a license that few have had the honor of using and we can't wait to bring it to you in various formats. It's a much sought after subject that few believed could ever come to market, but Auto World is making it happen!

With all of this going on, we are still updating and expanding on proven fan favorite products like the classic ThunderJet® and X-Traction® slot racers and adding more new cars to our very hot 4 Gear™ lineup.

Besides the slot cars, we continue to offer our American Muscle automotive die cast cars, AMT®, MPC® & Polar Lights® model kit lines and AW Custom & Premium promotional items. We're a busy team with plenty of ideas and we've got even more plans in the works to take Auto World to the next level. You won't be disappointed!

In The Beginning...

In 1958, Oscar Koveleski founded Auto World in the basement of his home, in Scranton, Pennsylvania. The small mail order hobby business soon grew to great proportions and became well known for its annual product catalogs, which were filled with every car-related item an adolescent hobbyist might desire. From the late 50's through the mid 80's, Auto World's catalogs and the items therein would fortuitously document the trends and popularity shifts in the hobby industry for 25 years. From plastic model kits, to large- and small-scale slot racing cars, gas-powered cars, hobby tools, scratch-building supplies, paint and spray guns — Auto World was a one-stop mail-order shop for young modelers everywhere.

Lightning Striker

In 1994, Thomas E. Lowe, an entrepreneur with a love of cars both big and small, founded a company named Playing Mantis®. He then proceeded to resurrect the long lost Johnny Lightning® brand of small scale diecast cars, originally made by Topper Toys. The line exploded with popularity and Johnny Lightning made its mark, becoming a sought-after collectible brand in the diecast retail market. Eventually, interest in slot car racing and plastic model kits began to resurface and Playing Mantis responded with Polar Lights® automotive, figural and sci-fi plastic model kits. Tom also decided to recreate two slot car racing chassis to market under the Johnny Lightning brand. One was marketed under the ThunderJet® 500 name and the other was the very popular X-Traction®. In 2004, Playing Mantis was purchased by RC2 Corporation.

The Second Time Around

Tom's continued passion for small-scale slot cars prompted him to start a new company, appropriately called "Round 2." He needed to come up with a new brand name for the ThunderJet® 500 and X-Traction® lines. Something familiar, with a retro vibe...

Tom knew that the Auto World name and logo would be instantly recognizable to long-time hobbyists, filled mostly with adults who had rediscovered some of their youthful pastimes. So, he contacted Oscar Koveleski and successfully purchased the rights to the Auto World mark, making it the new brand for ThunderJet and X-Traction slot cars.

Round 2, under the Auto World banner, continues to work with top licensors in the world of new, classic, muscle and motorsports cars to ensure a very desirable and "well-ROUNDED" product line - destined to be the new leader in small scale electric slot racing. But we're not stopping there. Other new and exciting hobby product plans are in the works. Slot racers are only the beginning...
