Next time you feel the need for speed and the desire to unleash your inner boy/girl racer you'll find there's no quicker way to get your fix of 'Formula Fun' than with this great Hand Generator Race In A Case Set. Unlike having to clunk together lengths of track, as with Scalextric and other slot car racing systems, you merely need to unzip the bag, place the cars on the track, plug in the generators, and you're good to go!

Retaining all the fun of mains powered slot racing systems this great Race In A Case Set doesn't need mains power to get it speeding along as it is powered instead by the included hand powered speed generators. This makes it not only green and more environmentally friendly than alternative systems, but also playable absolutely anywhere. In fact all you need is a flat surface of 91 x 44cm, that's less than half a square metre. That's it, no power points, no faffing about assembling it and taking it apart again.

Just like other racing slot systems the idea is to race around the track as quickly as you can without flying off on the corners. The faster you wind the handle the faster your car will go, and as you slow doing your winding so the car slows down to take on those tricky turns. Once you are all raced out it's just as simple to fold up and pack away with neat compartments for all the bits and pieces so the whole set is contained neatly in the case.

The Race In A Case Set is great for keeping the kids entertained whilst remaining safe in the knowledge that your fun is powered by completely green means, and thanks to it's portability it can be played anywhere be it on the beach, at the park, or just in the back garden.

Classic slot racing track with a big difference it's powered by you.

1:59 scale Track in a Carry Case including lap counters
